

What happens when you order something?

How does a package get to your house?

Certainly not by the work of a mouse. When you order something, the message goes on. Like from  to Books a Million. Then Books a Million calls service, and they bring it to your door. That's how a package gets to your floor.